RCM CALLS ON LEGION GROUP TO STOP MISLEADING STOCKHOLDERS

Pennsauken, NJ – November 8, 2013 -- RCM Technologies, Inc. (NasdaqGM: RCMT), a premier provider of business and technology solutions designed to enhance and maximize the operational performance of its customers through the adaptation and deployment of advanced information technology, engineering and specialty healthcare services, today called on Legion Partners Asset Management, LLC, IRS Partners No. 19, L.P. and the other members of the Legion-led dissident stockholder group that has launched the current proxy contest against RCM, including Bradley S. Vizi, Roger H. Ballou, Michael O’Connell and Christopher S. Kiper, to immediately end their inappropriate actions of trying to influence the proxy contest’s outcome and gain an undue advantage by misleading stockholders with false and misleading statements that are included in its proxy statement and other SEC filings. Legion is leading a dissident stockholder group that is pursuing a proxy contest to elect its two handpicked nominees, Messrs. Vizi and Ballou, to the RCM Board of Directors at the 2013 Annual Meeting.

Commented Robert B. Kerr, RCM’s Lead Independent Director: “Mr. Vizi has recently engaged in a ‘fishing expedition’ looking for leverage to pressure our Board and cause us to unduly question the integrity of an individual who has served RCM with steadfast dedication and commitment for over two decades and is largely responsible for our share price having increased by approximately 587% during the five years ended October 30, 2013, dramatically outperforming the S&P 500 during that same period. Mr. Vizi’s efforts have resulted in him ‘unearthing’ immaterial disclosure errors that were contained in SEC filings that RCM made at least 15 years ago. Ironically, Mr. Vizi and the other members of the Legion Group appear to be much less concerned that the proxy statement and other documents they have filed with the SEC in recent weeks, in connection with their costly and disruptive proxy contest against RCM, contain what we strongly believe to be numerous false and misleading statements.”

“We believe that Mr. Vizi and the other members of the Legion Group are attempting to inappropriately influence the outcome of this proxy contest and gain an undue advantage by misleading our stockholders with false and misleading statements contained in their proxy materials and other SEC filings,” continued Mr. Kerr. “While we believe the SEC has already required the Legion Group to correct a number of false and misleading statements in its initial proxy statement filings, we believe that the proxy statement that the Legion Group is providing to our stockholders still contains numerous false and misleading statements that prevent our stockholders from being able to make accurately informed decisions concerning the election of directors at RCM’s upcoming 2013 Annual Meeting of Stockholders. So that stockholders can see for themselves the extent to which the Legion Group has been attempting to mislead them, we call upon the Legion Group to immediately release all of the SEC comment letters that it has recently received which we believe will show numerous issues and concerns raised by the SEC with respect to statements made by the Legion Group in its proxy statement and other filings. We again remind Mr. Vizi and the other members of the Legion Group that our Board takes very seriously our duty to protect our stockholders from attempts to mislead them with information we believe is false and misleading.”

RCM’s Board of Directors unanimously recommends that stockholders vote to elect RCM’s highly-qualified and very experienced director nominees – Robert B. Kerr and Michael E.S. Frankel – by voting the WHITE proxy card by telephone, Internet or mail.

RCM strongly urges stockholders to vote only the WHITE proxy card and discard the Gold proxy card they may receive from the dissident stockholder group led by Legion Partners Asset Management LLC and reject their attempt to pursue their self-interested and undisclosed agenda.

Forward-Looking Statements

The Statements contained in this release that are not purely historical are forward-looking statements within the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995 and are subject to various risks, uncertainties and other factors that could cause the Company’s actual results, performance or achievements to differ materially from those expressed or implied by such forward-looking statements. These statements often include words such as "may," "will," "expect," "anticipate," "continue," "estimate," "project," "intend," "believe," "plan," "seek," "could," "can," "should" or similar expressions. In addition, statements that are not historical should also be considered forward-looking statements. These statements are based on assumptions that we have made in light of our experience in the industry, as well as our perceptions of historical trends, current conditions, expected future developments and other factors we believe are appropriate in these circumstances. Forward-looking statements include, but are not limited to, those relating to demand for the Company’s services, expected demand for our services and expectations regarding our revenues, the Company’s ability to continue to utilize goodwill, to continue to increase gross margins, to achieve and manage growth, to develop and market new applications and services, risks relating to the acquisition and integration of acquired businesses, the ability of the Company to consummate acquisitions as to which it executes non-binding letters of intent, demand for new services and applications, timing of demand for services, industry strength and competition and general economic factors. Such statements are based on current expectations that involve a number of known and unknown risks, uncertainties and other factors, which may cause actual events to be materially different from those expressed or implied by such forward-looking statements. Risk, uncertainties and other factors may emerge from time to time that could cause the Company's actual results to differ from those indicated by the forward-looking statements. Investors are directed to consider such risks, uncertainties and other factors described in documents filed by the Company with the Securities and Exchange Commission. The Company assumes no obligation (and expressly disclaims any such obligation) to update any forward-looking statements contained in this release as a result of new information or future events or developments, except as may be required by law.

Additional Information and Where to Find It
