RCM TECHNOLOGIES ADDS DIRECTOR TO BOARD

Pennsauken, NJ – September 7, 2012 – RCM Technologies, Inc. (NASDAQ: RCMT) today announced the election of Maier O. Fein to its Board of Directors to fill the vacancy created by Mr. Norman Berson’s retirement from the Board.

Mr. Fein is a distinguished professional with an extensive and diversified background in technology and science. He began his career as a research physicist at the Naval Undersea Warfare Center (“NUWC”) in Newport, RI and advanced to the position of Engineering Manager responsible for major operations and organizational functions while maintaining liaison with the financial, facilities, security and human resource departments. The NUWC is a shore command of the U.S. Navy within the Naval Sea Systems Command Warfare Center Enterprise, which engineers, builds and supports America’s Fleet of ships and combat systems. NUWC is the Navy’s premier research, development, test and evaluation engineering, and Fleet support center for submarine warfare systems and other systems associated with the undersea battlespace.

Prior to his retirement from NUWC, Mr. Fein held a Department of Defense security clearance, was granted a U. S. patent and also authored several classified reports and papers. Mr. Fein is a graduate of Temple University with a Master’s Degree in Physics.

Leon Kopyt, Chairman and CEO of RCM, commented: “The RCM Board is pleased to have Mr. Fein join the Board and bring to the Company his strong science, engineering, management skills and extensive knowledge of Federal programs and procurements. His contribution should be particularly valuable to the Company’s Aerospace and Defense Engineering Division.”

Mr. Fein is a member of Class A of the Board and his term is scheduled to expire at the Company’s annual meetings of stockholders to be held in 2015. The addition of Mr. Fein increases the size of the Board to six members.
